Overview

There are several types of career assessments, with each providing insight into unique personal factors that can affect job satisfaction and workplace performance. The Work Values Assessment, available within the Career Solutions system, helps jobseekers learn more about their needs with regard to the type of work they do. In other words, it helps individuals understand what motivates them to work and what they need to feel satisfied in their work environments. The Work Values Assessment is a relatively brief survey, taking about fifteen minutes, and can be completed online with instant results. Students can benefit greatly from this assessment in gaining a deeper understanding of what they need from their job.

This lesson contains:

- A summary of how to access and use the Work Values Assessment.
- A review of information to share with students about assessments and personal factors.
- Strategies for using the Work Values Assessment with students.
- Methods for exploring and applying assessment results.
- A review of next steps for students using insights gained from this lesson.

How to Use This Tool

Before beginning, be sure to sign into the system. The Work Values Assessment is located within the Career Exploration section. Simply click the Work Values Assessment link in the list of tools to the right.
The page below will appear. Instructions for completing the assessment are located in the center of the screen. These instructions should be reviewed carefully before starting the assessment.

Helpful Tip: All twenty cards must be read and clicked through before the Begin button will appear. While reading the cards, think about the personal importance of each item in selecting a career.

Helpful Tip: The Work Values Assessment available in this system was developed by O*NET. For additional information on this assessment, as well as print versions of this tool, click here or go to https://www.onetcenter.org/WIL.html.

After starting the assessment, a page will appear with the opportunity to sort all twenty cards into five different columns. The sorting can be done either by clicking the rating scale under each card or by dragging and dropping the cards into the columns.

Helpful Tip: Only four cards can be placed in each column, meaning that difficult decisions may need to be made about some of the items on the cards. If needed, cards can be dragged to other columns at any time.

From the O*NET Importance Locator manual:

Put exactly 4 cards in each column. When you are done, the four most important statements should be in Column 5, the four next most important should be in Column 4, and so on. The four least important statements should be in Column 1. You may have to move the cards around until you have exactly 4 cards in each column.
After completing the assessment, the results will appear on a page that looks similar to the image below. Work values will be listed and some will have higher scores than others. Students should be encouraged to review their top values with the highest scores, as these are most indicative of their personal work values.

Helpful Tip: Singing into the system before starting will ensure the results are saved and accessible later.
After exploring top work values, click Next to continue. A page will appear with the option to select the match level for the occupations that align with the work values results. The stronger the match selected, the shorter the list. Likewise, the weaker the match, the longer the list.

Helpful Tip: The strength of the match selected does not change the occupations that appear at the top of the list. Rather, it simply adjusts the length of the list displayed. If a close match is selected, the list will just be shorter than if a loose match was selected.
Once a match level is selected, a page like the one below will appear. The occupations with the strongest correlation to the top work values identified in the assessment are presented in alphabetical order.

Some notable features of this page include...

- Sorting occupations by clicking on category headings.
- Symbols next to each occupation to identify Bright Outlook and green occupations.
- Filters on the top left that can help narrow and focus the list of occupations.
- A menu on the top right that allows for different types of data to be displayed.

Helpful Tip: The features available in the occupation list that appears are similar to those that were presented in Lesson 2. For your convenience, the instructions have been copied below.

Helpful Tip: Bright Outlook occupations are defined by O*NET as having at least one of the following criteria.

- Projected to grow faster than average (employment increase of 10% or more) over the period 2018-2028
- Projected to have 100,000 or more job openings over the period 2018-2028

Helpful Tip:
When selecting data types, a message may appear that says, “There were no occupations that matched your criteria.” If this happens go to the dropdown menu and select the data type again. On this second attempt, a list should appear.

There were no occupations that matched your criteria.
Helpful Tip: When selecting labor market information as a data type, the list may automatically sort from lowest to highest, which means a lot of data categories will say, “Confidential.” Data is often labeled “confidential” when there is a limited number of people in an occupation. Clicking on any of the category headings will sort the list from highest to lowest and data will appear.

To examine each occupation in more detail, click on the occupation title that appears in the list. The next page that appears will contain a wealth of information about the occupation, including a summary of work activities/duties, labor market information, education requirements, and more.
To explore the occupation profile, scroll down the page or click on the tabs that appear at the top of the profile. An occupation summary (under the job description) provides a very quick idea of the market for the occupation, as well as the required education and work experience.

Helpful Tip: The information displayed on this page is based on O*NET data. If additional information is needed, it may be helpful to visit the O*NET site at onetonline.org.

IMPORTANT: As students complete the activities within each lesson, they need to save occupations they believe are a good match. These saved occupations will be referenced in future lessons.

Helpful Tip: If the option to save does not appear, click the white box at the top of the screen. It will turn green. Clicking it again will save the occupation.
Connecting with Students

Learning Objectives

In this lesson, students will be given the opportunity to...

- Review the components of an informed career decision.
- Discuss the benefits of career assessments in choosing a career.
- Evaluate work values and their connection to work satisfaction.
- Identify personal work values and apply these to the career selection process.
- Assess careers based on their work values.
- Determine next steps in exploring career opportunities and developing a career plan.

Classroom Discussions and Presentations

Introduction

At this point in the career exploration process, it can be helpful to delve a little deeper into career assessments and their use in developing informed career decisions. To encourage the effective use of these tools, students will need to understand why they are useful and how they should be applied to the career exploration process. Importantly, however, students also need to be aware of the limitations of these tools so they can avoid common misuses of the information. Taking time to provide this foundation can help students develop a healthy relationship with self-discovery tools and embrace their use in effective planning.

Talking Points

Below are some helpful comments to share with students.

- Recall that the ultimate goal of career exploration is making an informed career decision. This often involves careful consideration of both personal and external factors.
- While there are many ways to begin the career exploration process, we have chosen to start with the identification of personal factors to help establish a more personal connection early in the process.
- Career assessments are common tools used to uncover personal interests and values that can be important to consider when choosing a career that you will find meaningful and fulfilling.
- These assessments typically involve brief surveys or activities that produce results that can suggest the presence of particular traits, attributes, values, and interests.
- It is important to keep in mind that assessments are not perfect and they can sometimes be wrong. Also, results from assessments can change over time as you accumulate life experiences. Because of these limitations, assessment results should never be considered as the primary or sole factor when determining career pathways that are right for you.
- Assessments are best viewed as hint or a clue to attributes that you may possess. They merely suggest factors that you may want to consider when selecting a career.
- The Work Values Assessment is frequently used in the career exploration process. It helps you identify what is most important to you when engaging in work activities.
• Understanding what you value in a job can help you seek occupations that align with these values. For example, if you value working with others, it would make sense to consider social occupations.
• The Work Values Assessment is useful in identifying your values and applying these to occupations.

Discussion Questions

As a class or in small groups, have students reflect on the following questions. Help students talk about and work through their positive and negative feelings regarding career exploration.

• What is your general opinion of surveys or tests designed to measure personal attributes?
• How can you determine if a survey is trustworthy, with the ability to produce valid results?
• How might something like the Work Values Assessment be helpful to you?
• When you engage in work-related activities (at home, school, or elsewhere), what motivates you to complete the task? How might you increase your motivation to finish the task?
• When you engage in work-related activities (at home, school, or elsewhere), what helps make the work more enjoyable? What makes the work less enjoyable?
• How might these motivating and enjoyable elements of work play a role in your career selection?
• What do you hope to learn from using career assessments, like the Work Values Assessment?

Exploring the System

After discussing the advantages and disadvantages of career assessments and helping students work through their positive and negative perspectives on them, students can be introduced to the Work Values Assessment in Career Solutions.

The “How to Use this Tool” section above provides a summary of useful information to share with students.

It is recommended that teachers and instructors...

• Encourage students to sign into the site to ensure their data is saved.
• Help students locate the Work Values Assessment.
• Carefully review the instructions posted with the assessment with students.
• Discuss what results will look like and what students should focus on.
• Review features available in the system to explore the results and matching careers.

Classroom Activity

Work Values Assessment and Occupation Comparison

The Work Values Assessment is a common tool that is frequently completed in career exploration activities. Many find this assessment useful in learning about what the need to find satisfaction and fulfillment in the work they do. Students should be encouraged to complete this assessment to gain a deeper understanding about what motivates them to work and what promotes enjoyment in their work activities. When this information is used to identify potential career matches, students can gain a sense of jobs they may like.
Exploring Careers with Career Solutions

To locate the assessment, review the “How to Use this Tool” section above.

It is recommended that teachers and instructors...

- Introduce the purpose of the Work Values Assessment as a tool that can help jobseekers identify what is most important in achieving satisfaction and fulfillment in their work.
- Review the instructions posted with the assessment in Career Solutions.
- Provide an opportunity for students to complete the assessment in the classroom or at home.
- Review the results of the assessment with students.
- Encourage students to complete the Occupation Comparison Sheet (see below).
- Remind students to save occupations they believe are a good match.

Exploring the Results

After completing the Work Values Assessment, there are typically one or two values that will emerge that will have higher scores. Students should be encouraged to focus their attention on these top work values and learn more about what these values mean. When interpreting these results from this assessment, the use of the O*NET Score Report may be helpful. This report provides a summary of the different work values and how to apply the results to the selection of careers. For your convenience, a page from this report that lists definitions of each of the work values is provided below. As a reminder, detailed information on the Work Values Assessment used in the Career Solutions system can be found by clicking here or visiting https://www.onetcenter.org/WIL.html#overview.

Once the top one or two work values have been identified and students have taken time to explore definitions for these values (by clicking on the value titles in the results chart or exploring other sources), the next step is to apply this information to the selection of careers. The Career Solutions system automatically displays careers that have the strongest correlation with the student’s work values. The occupations listed will differ in the content of work, but should be similar in the in the values that are present in the main work activities. Thus, students should be encouraged to explore careers in content areas they find most interesting. For example, they may find a career in the field of agriculture more interesting that one in finance.

In making career comparisons, the comparison sheet below is a sample of an activity that students should engage in frequently. Creating a side-by-side comparison helps tease apart the finer details of an occupation. This will help them get practice making career choices and identifying what is most important. There are no right or wrong answers in these comparison activities. Their chosen career in this activity is not meant to be their ultimate career choice. It is best viewed as an example of a career match that is stronger than others and can be evaluated to determine features that make it a more desirable career choice.

What Your Work Values Mean

You can think of work values as aspects of work that are important to you. The Work Importance Locator measures the importance to you of the six work values listed below. At the very least, please read the definitions for your two highest work values to get a better understanding of these work values for exploring jobs.

Achievement
If Achievement is your highest work value, look for jobs that let you use your best abilities. Look for work where you can see the results of your efforts. Explore jobs where you can get the feeling of accomplishment.

Independence
If Independence is your highest work value, look for jobs where they let you do things on your own initiative. Explore work where you can make decisions on your own.

Recognition
If Recognition is your highest work value, explore jobs with good possibilities for advancement. Look for work with prestige or with the potential for leadership.

Relationships
If Relationships is your highest work value, look for jobs where your co-workers are friendly. Look for work that lets you be of service to others. Explore jobs that do not make you do anything that goes against your sense of right and wrong.

Support
If Support is your highest work value, look for jobs where the company stands behind its workers and where the workers are comfortable with management’s style of supervision. Explore work in companies with a reputation for competent, considerate, and fair management.

Working Conditions
If Working Conditions is your highest work value, consider pay, job security, and good working conditions when looking at jobs. Look for work that suits your work style. Some people like to be busy all the time, or work alone, or have many different things to do. Explore jobs where you can take best advantage of your particular work style.
Next Steps

At the end of the lesson, take a moment to review and assess the learning objectives. Engage students in a brief discussion of the learning opportunities that were made available in the classroom.

In this lesson, students were provided the opportunity to...

- Review the components of an informed career decision.
- Discuss the benefits of career assessments in choosing a career.
- Evaluate work values and their connection to work satisfaction.
- Identify personal work values and apply these to the career selection process.
- Assess careers based on their work values.

After providing a brief overview, encourage students to...

- Continue the self-reflection process.
- Think about their work values and the types of occupations that fit these values.
- Determine how they might use this information in selecting a career.
- Prepare for future lessons that will involve additional self-discovery activities.
